BULBS

I held them in my hand, small balls of wonder,
Purple and ivory and brown.
I broke the soft, dark earth to fold them under,
And pressed the yielding soil to hold them down.
I know that in their hearts the rainbow lingers,
Waiting until it hears a song it knows.
Oh, strange—to hold a rainbow in my fingers!
It lies there waiting for the melting snows.
The little brown song sparrow that comes daring
To pour his heart out on an empty bough,
Will linger in my garden to be sharing
The seven colors that are sleeping now.

Louise Driscoll.

Prices quoted are for cash with order. All stock prepaid in the U. S. and Canada. 3 bulbs will be sold at the dozen rate. All orders will be shipped as soon as weather permits, we prefer not to ship in zero weather.

All bulbs listed are 1¼ inches and over.

The stock of some varieties is quite limited, if sold out of large bulbs, will send (2) blooming size bulbs instead.

All bulbs are guaranteed to be true to name, if errors should occur, I will gladly replace all bulbs not true.

We can supply blooming size bulbs of most of the varieties listed, at one half the list price.

No orders accepted for less than $1.00

The song of the birds for mirth;
One is nearer Gods heart in a garden,
Than anywhere else on earth”.

THE FLOWER OF THE PEOPLE

There is no need for me to eulogize or praise the Gladiolus; it speaks for itself. To see it excites admiration; to grow it excites enthusiasm. To know it and grow it is to love it. No other flower is making such wonderful advancement in worth and beauty and no other such tremendous increase in popularity. The “Glorious Gladiolus” is the flower of the people.

—President C. R. Hinkle of the A. G. A.

GLADIOLI

The word gladiolus comes from the Latin gladius, meaning little sword and is used because of the resemblance of the gladiolus leaves to a sword. The first mention we have of gladioli was in the days of the Romans. They were first found in the Mediterranean region, then further north in Europe, in England and in South Africa. Such wonderful improvements have been made by the European and American hybridizers that we can scarcely recognize these early specimens as the forerunners of our present glorious gladioli.

No garden these days is considered complete without it's one or more plantings of this queen of summer flowering bulbs. They are not exacting as to soil and culture. They will grow and bloom under the most unfavorable conditions, but will do their best in a good soil, a sunny location and will respond wonderfully to good care and culture.

Planting every ten or twelve days from the middle of April to the latter part of June, covering the bulbs about four to five inches deep, will give a succession of bloom from the middle of July to October.
